As a busy individual with multiple demands, you don't always have the time to become immersed in every detail of your construction project. However, a successful project demands constant attention to ensure that each detail is being addressed.

With GLE, you have an expert team to work with you, acting as your eyes and ears to guarantee that all project objectives are met. Our architects, engineers, and building professionals provide you with the best possible construction oversight to manage construction costs and lower your risk.

Lending institutions, developers and building owners benefit by engaging GLE early in a project for construction consultation. GLE provides a variety of services, including plan and cost reviews and construction inspections. We also perform design reviews and can provide on-site owner's representation.

GLE's construction funds control program gives you a proactive construction risk management solution. We track, control and disburse funds directly to those supplying materials or services on the project.

For clients who need help implementing a multi-building construction program, GLE offers program management services to direct all planning, design and construction activities.

Focused on your success.

Property developers and owners choose GLE for construction management because they know they can rely on us to look after their interests. They also know we have the expertise to handle even the most complex projects.

Public sector clients value our ability to provide practical advice. GLE has helped numerous public organizations successfully complete their construction projects on time and obtain the best quality for the lowest possible cost.

Lenders and banks depend on us for rapid response, 24/7 support, and our extensive construction expertise.
